The Orphan’s Home Cycle, The Story of a Marriage
By Horton Foote
Horton Foote, renowned as one of the great American playwrights of the last century, was drawn to the ordinary people of rural Texas. The middle of a three-play cycle, The Story of Marriage brings meaning and purpose to the central character, Horace Robedaux. “The entire Orphan’s Home Cycle hovers like a hummingbird; stunning in its simplicity, with a rich sense of Americana.”

The Broadway production garnered 8 nominations at the 2007 Tony Awards including Best Musical. It’s 1959. Boston’s Colonial Theatre is host to the opening night performance of a new musical. When the leading lady mysteriously dies on stage the entire cast & crew are suspects. The debut production of a new play by AU Theatre Professor Robert Homer-Drummond. Sean, a middle-aged professor, haunted by the death of his missionary grandfather in Vietnam, returns to the country of his birth looking for answers. This workshop production is designed by Art Professor Jo Carol Mitchell-Rogers. Although it is a work of fiction, it is influenced by their recent trip abroad with AU students to visit Vietnam and Cambodia.

★ Epic Proportions
By Larry Coen and David Crane Belk
Two brothers decide to go to the Arizona desert to be extras in an enormous film ala The Ten Commandments, but things go disastrously wrong! Both brothers fall in love with the same girl, the director of the film is incompetent, and everyone finds themselves embroiled in more drama off-set than on. Miss this one and you will miss out on epic laughs!

★ Tartuffe
By Molière
No sinner is safe in Molière’s religious satire: Tartuffe. When a wealthy man is duped by a conman feigning piety, his entire household must fight with wit in order to reveal the imposter’s malicious intent. Richard Wilbur’s English translation captures the heart of Molière’s writing and sacrifices none of his bright banter.
